A visit to Leith Rigg

This replaces the previously arranged walk to Bay Ness.

Leith Rigg is the very house as featured in Leo's The Golden Waterwheel in which he and Margaret lived with their young children in the mid- to late-30s. Its name in the book is Adder Howe.

Please meet in the Village Hall car park for departure at 9:45am to share cars to Fyling Hall School, where we will park on the approach road and walk from there. Those who prefer to drive to Leith Rigg should leave Robin Hood's Bay at about 10:15am, expecting that the walkers will arrive around 10:30am. We will return to the village in time for lunch. Hopefully, car sharing will have been sorted out at the Saturday AGM.
